Protection of Mothers of Children with Severe Disabilities

It is granted to working mothers of children with severe irreversible and permanent disability, in vegetative and bedridden states, with a tendency to progression over time and profound effects on neurocognitive and adaptive functions of the environment in the pediatric age, without the possibility of institutional care

For the provision of the service, the following requirements must be met:

- a. The mother has been linked to employment at the time of the birth of the child or when the child acquired the disability.
- b. You have abandoned your employment relationship due to the need to dedicate yourself to your care.
- c. The degree of disability of the child prevents him from accessing the national education system, including any type of educational care or other institutional alternative of MINSAP.
- d. That the child with severe disability is of pediatric age, considering that at this stage they benefit from rehabilitation and stimulation programs, as well as educational and psycho-pedagogical outpatients, essential for the evolution, prognosis and maintenance of the quality of life.
